generous sympathies or by recklessiv inflaming the bitterness of his class harreds. The ever-swelling brood or fleeting pettifogers who take to this trade have established their theory that mere isolation is a proof of malice; and on that assumption, with windy fury and tradesunion eloquence, they base their ruinous damage suits. Their standard cry is: "Smite him on the pocket nervel—reduce him to the ranks!—and see how his haughtiness will shrivel at your touch!" Under these conditions we find that penury is the loftiest virtue, while an appearance of opulence may be safely taken as the sign of an oppressor whom it will be meritorious and profitable to bleed. Confiscation under a perversion of law naturally follows. The victim shrinks from threatened ruin by accepting a promised settlement out of court, and the shyster pockets his half of whatever the spoil may be. His professional success may be pretty fairly measured by his needness, his shamelessness and his greed. Our New Virginia is big with a fruitage of this unspeakable corsuption, and a black night approaches when it will be proper for brave men to tremble.
